A cold, biting wind chases a piece of newspaper along the grey walls. Headlines call for a fight, but do those desperate and powerless eyes that hide behind the foggy glass desire anything? A human being is ruled by fear. You falsely convince yourself that today will be better than yesterday, but every second you must remember that Big Brother is watching you. Today you tell the truth, tomorrow — a lie. And in the end, you lie to yourself. But in a world where war is peace, freedom is slavery, and ignorance is strength, there is no other way to survive.

Calligraphy presents a new mini-album by Kercha. Three original tracks along with remixes by residents of the label will immerse you into the cold totalitarian regime and the constant threat of being punished for dissent. The perfect soundtrack to the cult novel. Welcome to 84.
